Police told to shield Scheme 33 residents from land grabbers

By Sumair Abdullah

KARACHI: A sessions court has ordered the SHO of Sachal police to provide protection to the residents of a housing society in Scheme 33 in Malir, who were allegedly facing attempts to illegally occupy their land by private persons.

The residents of Gahusia Cooperative Housing Society had filed an application before Additional District and Sessions Judge (Malir) Syed Ghous Ali Shah Jillani under Sections 22-A and 22-B, seeking directions to provide them protection and register a case against the private persons allegedly involved in illegally occupying the land of the society with the help of the SHO Sachal and issuing threats to force the residents to vacate.

After examining the report filed by the SHO and hearing the applicants' counsel, the court ordered the SHO of Sachal police to provide legal protection to the applicants under Article 4 of the Constitution.

The court noted that the counsel for the applicants stated that his clients would be satisfied if an order for legal protection was given to them.

"Therefore, SHO PS Sachal, Karachi, is directed to provide lawful protection to petitioners and ensure that no harassment shall be caused to the petitioners. This order will not be used as a shield for petitioners for any legal proceedings," the judge wrote in the order while disposing of the application.

According to the applicants, the private persons are allegedly harassing them with the help of the SHO Sachal and issuing threats to vacate the houses of residents in the society and supporting the proposed accused in illegally occupying the land.

They claimed that prior to the application, they had moved an application to the SHO Sachal against the private persons; however, the SHO did not take any action.

"The petitioners approached the SHO and also moved an application to the SSP Malir for protection of their lives but the proposed accused are still issuing threats to the petitioner."

The applicants urged the court to record their statements under Section 154 of the CrPC and to restrain the proposed accused persons and their companions from harassing, humiliating, pressurising and blackmailing them.

Illegal fireworks factories in Hyderabad division ordered to be sealed

LPG cylinder outlets to be shifted outside residential areas

By Our Staff Correspondent

HYDERABAD: The divisional administration and Hyderabad Range police have issued directives for sealing of all illegal fireworks factories across Hyderabad division and shifting of LPG cylinder-filling shops outside the residential limits.

They also directed to conduct a fresh district-wide survey, enforce SOPs and reconnaissance in rural zones to find out illegal LPG and firecrackers trade.

According to sources, a crackdown on a large scale has been ordered in the division against such illegal activities.

The directives were issued at a meeting presided over by Divisional Commissioner Fayyaz Abbasi on Tuesday in his office and attended by Hyderabad DIG Tariq Razzaq Dharejo, Deputy Commissioner Zainul Abedin Memon, Special Branch SSP Amir Abbas Shah and other officials.

They said a crackdown should be launched on large scale and register FIRs under section 144 Cr PC and relevant laws, and strengthen fire and emergency response planning in densely populated areas and establish an integrated coordination group comprising the stakeholders.

The commissioner instructed the deputy commissioners to submit fresh survey reports after revisiting all factories and LPG outlets. The meeting resolved that a crackdown would be launched across the division to eliminate illegal and hazardous activities, ensuring public safety and preventing any future tragedies.

DCs and police officers from other districts of the division also attended the meeting via video link.

The meeting reviewed in detail the tragic explosion at a firecracker factory in Unit-10 of Latifabad and rising trend of illegal and hazardous activities in the division.

The participants were told that a total of nine firecracker factories were operating in Hyderabad of which six were licensed while three illegal. They had been closed following an action.

The DIG directed the relevant departments to seal every illegal firecracker factory across the division without any delay, and shift the licensed units outside the populated areas.

He also ordered that the LPG cylinder shops operating within residential zones be relocated and strict criminal cases should be registered against all operators involved in illegal decanting.

The DCs of Matiari, Jamshoro, Tando Mohammad Khan, Sujawal, Thatta, Dadu and Badin presented their reports, informing the commissioner that no firecracker factories were operating in their districts and action against illegal LPG shops was about to begin.

Civil Defence officials said the LPG outlets running without NOCs were being raided and equipment confiscated in Hyderabad. The Special Branch official said a total of 167 LPG shops were operating in Hyderabad and all of them must be brought into strict compliance with SOPs.

According to the Hyderabad DC, a survey revealed that a tunnel-like structure was found inside the affected firecracker factory where a large quantity of explosive material had been stored, resulting in a huge loss of human life. One individual involving with the factory was arrested while the others involved had fled, it was informed.

Dykes in Larkana face erosion as water recedes in Indus

• Several locations suffer damage that demands repair before next flooding • Work stalled as govt hasn't paid bills worth billions of rupees

By M.B. Kalhoro

LARKANA: As the Indus River's water level continues to fall after recent floods, several dykes in the Larkana region, including the already vulnerable Moria Loop Bund inspected earlier by officials and the Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) leaders, have been damaged, a survey by Dawn has shown.

During a visit to the spot, where an emergency had been declared earlier, officials confirmed serious erosion. Bilawal and other PPP leaders had also inspected the area due to its vulnerability.

Access to the dyke on the right bank is blocked by obstacles reportedly placed by residents of Agahani and Moria villages. They are said to have done this to stop police from entering during any local dispute. Irrigation supervisor Ahsan confirmed that one approach from Akil village was heavily blocked while the other side remained open.

A proposed "Hockey Spur", which is meant to stop fast erosion, has also run into trouble. Before construction could begin, receding water washed away its 225-foot curve. This has created a serious situation. Officials warn that the spur must be built before the next flood season or the dyke could be difficult to protect later.

According to the irrigation department, it has stored around 1.5 to 2 million cubic feet of stone near Moria Loop Bund and Akil-Aghani Loop Bund for emergencies. The "T-Spur" downstream also suffered heavy damage, with only its shank still intact. Officials say it needs urgent repair to prevent further loss.

A superintendent engineer from Northern Dadu Division told Dawn on the condition of anonymity that from the Ruk Spur in Shikarpur to the Hakra and Abad dykes in Larkana, floodwater caused damages at many points this year. Engineers estimate that 45 to 50 miles of the 86-mile stretch need repair.

Locals say the river has shifted toward the right bank is eating away sandbars and increasing pressure on the Moria Loop Bund.

Irrigation officials are considering changes to the design, location and dimensions of the proposed Hockey Spur after the consultant's next visit. They worry that "congestion" in the river flow could occur during future floods.

Moreover, work has also slowed because contractors have not been paid. The Sindh government reportedly still owes Rs800 million for emergency work done in 2024. Another Rs138m is needed to complete the "Hockey Spur" before the flood season of next year. There is also a need for Rs800m for the Old/New Abad Bund and Rs1.4 billion for the Hakra Loop Bund. About Rs1.75bn spent during the 2025 flood fight is also unpaid.

Contractors who supported the department during the floods are now unwilling to continue work without payment.

Ordinance granting exclusive jurisdiction to CBs

through by the acting governor in clear haste as if there was a race to show how quickly control over the judiciary could be tightened.

He submitted that according to Section 3(1) [exclusive jurisdiction] of the Ordinance, "Every application, cause, matter or petition filed before the high court falling within Article 199, shall be heard and decided exclusively by the constitutional benches constituted under Article 202A of the Constitution."

Similarly, Section 6 (Recusal and Misconduct) provides that any recusal or refusal by a nominated judge "will prima facie amount to misconduct" and mandates referral to the Supreme Judicial Council under Article 209, he added.

He maintained that the non-obstante clause in Section 11 also provided that the impugned ordinance "shall prevail to the extent of any inconsistency over any other law, rules, regulations, or even judgments of the Supreme Court or High Court".

He also argued that there were some other key provisions including the tenure of the judges of the constitutional benches preferably not less than six months, creation of the offices of head and acting head of the constitutional benches, setting up separate registry and administrative apparatus for such benches, cases to be managed on a "first in, first out" basis with urgent applications to be fixed within 14 days and the head of constitutional benches was empowered to make rules for the practice and procedure.

By granting exclusive jurisdiction to these benches in the matters filed under Article 199, the petitioner stated that the impugned ordinance was effectively ousting the jurisdiction of other benches (regular benches) of the SHC and it was not a matter of procedure but of substantive judicial power which was the prerogative of the Constitution itself and not of subordinate legislation.

He maintained that the provision of recusal and misconduct had also encroached upon the constitutional scheme for judicial accountability under Article 209 and addition to the language of the Constitution, which was excessive and such legislative powers were not even with the provincial legislature.

The petitioner also argued that the sweeping non-obstante clause purported to override not only statutory law but also judicial precedents including binding decisions of the Supreme Court as well as other provisions were also constitutionally impermissible.

Meanwhile, a new roster was issued after the promulgation of the ordinance under which two division and as many single-judge constitutional benches have been constituted at the SHC's principal seat at Karachi to hear these matters.
